

The Baltimore Student Harm Reduction Coalition Presents
Safe Streets: Reducing Violent Crime and Youth Violence in East Baltimore

Safe Streets is a community mobilization and outreach program designed to combat shootings and homicides that targets high-risk youth aged 14 to 25.

Gardnel Carter, the Manager of Safe Streets East, and Dr. Daniel Webster, Co-Director of JHSPH's Center for Gun Policy and Research, will discuss the Safe Streets program and the recent evaluation that demonstrated its success at reducing homicides and violent crime.

When: Tuesday, April 10 from 12:15-1:15PM
Where: Johns Hopkins School of Public Health
Room W2008
Light Refreshments will be provided!
